Grid up your own bathroom

A bathroom is much more than a room to wash up. It's a place to start off your day and to end it. To really feel at home Vika is launching a new bathroom concept named InGrid, with room for a personal touch.

The InGrid collection is a modular cabinet system that allows you to compose your bathroom space according to your needs with a sensitive range of materials, finishings and colours. You create an own identity and atmosphere depending on your lifestyle.

The grid is a tool to invite you to design your own wellness living space.

Our collection is not limited to the bathroom. The InGrid elements offer practical solutions throughout the rest of your home as well.

Because of the personal choices of materials and colours your design carries your own signature.

Vika NV launches new bathroom design on Interieur 2014

In the context of the project 5x5 Design region Kortrijk combines 5 regional companies to 5 top designers. One year long, Vika works together with designer Jean-François D'Or, designer of the year 2013, and junior designer Frédérique Ficherouille to develop a new product.

At the start of the project was thoroughly thought how to increase the comfort of people during their daily bathroom experience.

The result of this collaboration is shown on the Biennale INTERIEUR in October 2014.
